

Manjhi - The Mountain Man: An Inspiring Tale of Perseverance and Unwavering Determination

INVITATION

Virtual Book Launch

"When the obstacle is ready, the hero will appear", is an old saying.

A humblingly humble encounter with a mountaineer in Bhilwara, a state in Rajasthan, is the beginning of an incredible odyssey for someone going through a crisis in life.

"All experience is your truth. You have to do nothing, just be open to whatever there is." The guide

With his gentle instruction, the guide shows the way to become aware of what deeply underlies one's personal situation across different aspects of life such as fear, relationships, and death, an awareness that leads to transformation.

Who is this enigmatic guide? Where did he come from? And why? What is his message? The mystery gradually unravels to reveal something least expected.

We invite you to the virtual zoom launch of 'Manjhi The Boatman' written by Dr. Rajan Sankaran, a renowned homeopath, thinker, teacher, author and guide.

In conversation with him will be Shereen Khan, Managing Editor of CNBC - TV 18, who will also read some passages from the book.

The book will be available for sale in print and e-book format on various platforms including www.onlineshmp.com, www.helionpress.com, www.amazon.com and www.amazon.in

: The Extraordinary Journey of Dashrath Manjhi

In the heart of the remote Gehlaur village, nestled amidst the towering hills of Bihar, India, lived an ordinary man named Dashrath Manjhi. Uneducated, poverty-stricken, and belonging to a marginalized community, Manjhi's life took an extraordinary turn when his wife, Phaguni Devi, died due to lack of timely medical attention. The nearest hospital was 70 kilometers away, and the arduous journey over treacherous mountain paths proved fatal for her.

Overwhelmed by grief and a relentless desire to prevent a similar fate for others, Manjhi embarked on an astonishing mission: he would carve a road through the mountain that separated his village from the nearest town. Armed with a hammer and chisel, he commenced his solitary endeavor in 1960, determined to overcome the seemingly insurmountable obstacle that had claimed his wife's life.

A Monument to Unwavering Perseverance

For 22 years, Manjhi tirelessly chipped away at the rock face, day after day, year after year. The arduous task demanded immense physical and mental strength, as he endured blisters, cuts, and relentless opposition from skeptical villagers. Yet, through it all, his resolve never wavered.

As the years passed, the villagers gradually began to comprehend the significance of Manjhi's endeavor. They realized that his solitary mission was not merely about constructing a road; it was a testament to the indomitable human spirit and a symbol of hope for a marginalized community.

In 1982, after 22 years of relentless effort, Manjhi finally broke through the mountain, creating a 110-meter-long, 9-meter-wide road. This remarkable achievement not only connected Gehlaur to the outside world but also became a beacon of inspiration for countless others.

Recognition and Legacy

Manjhi's extraordinary feat earned him widespread recognition and accolades. In 1984, he was awarded the Padma Shri, one of India's highest civilian honors. His story became the subject of books, films, and countless articles, inspiring people around the world with its message of perseverance and determination.

Tragically, Manjhi passed away in 2007, but his legacy continues to live on. The road he carved remains a testament to his unwavering spirit, and his story serves as an eternal reminder that even the most daunting obstacles can be overcome with unwavering determination.

Exploring the Depths of 'Manjhi - The Boatman'

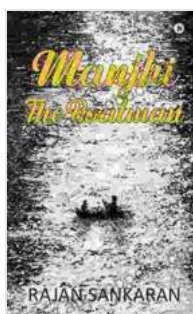

Bhagwan Das's captivating biography, 'Manjhi - The Boatman,' offers an intimate and inspiring account of Manjhi's life and mission. Drawing from extensive interviews with Manjhi's family, friends, and fellow villagers, Das paints a vivid portrait of this extraordinary man's struggles, triumphs, and enduring impact on his community.

Through the pages of 'Manjhi - The Boatman,' readers embark on a journey that transcends the physical realm of mountain carving. They enter the depths of human resilience, the complexities of poverty and social marginalization, and the transformative power of unwavering determination.

A Timeless Story of Hope and Human Spirit

'Manjhi - The Boatman' is more than just a biography; it is a timeless story of hope and the indomitable human spirit. It is a testament to the power of ordinary individuals to achieve extraordinary things and a reminder that even in the face of adversity, it is never too late to pursue our dreams.

Whether you are a seasoned reader seeking inspiration or simply curious about the extraordinary life of Dashrath Manjhi, 'Manjhi - The Boatman' is an unmissable read. Its pages hold valuable lessons for us all, empowering us to embrace challenges with unwavering determination and to strive for a better, more equitable world.
